

Sheffield Humanist Society present:

Hester Reeve

"The Suffragette as a Militant Artist"

Tuesday 18th November 2014 at 20.00
Farm Road Sports and Social Club, Sheffield. S2 2TP

Hester Reeve will discuss the value of re-historicising the suffragette as a militant artist in order to celebrate the unique suffragette contribution to human rights and creative citizenship. She will also examine in detail some of the suffragettes who were also artists such as Sylvia Pankhurst questioning why their progressive ideas of art and politics are not given full merit today.

Hester Reeve is an artist and Senior Lecturer in Fine Art at Sheffield Hallam University. She collaborates with Olivia Plender under the umbrella of The Emily Davison Lodge. Their collaborative research and artworks have been shown at the Women's Library Gallery and Tate Britain, where they recently co-curated the Sylvia Pankhurst Display.
